

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

First Loxone-certified Partner Showroom in the US

Loxone Partner Kostantinos Dimatis from InHomeSmart opens his Showroom to expand business

April 25, 2019 – Loxone Experience Centers are expanding with the addition of InHomeSmart's Showroom in Queens, NYC. Customers can now experience true home automation in the 500 sq ft Showroom that packs in impressive features for lighting, home control, shading and more.

By appointment, guests can schedule a tour to realize the benefits of a Loxone Real Smart Home for their own future smart home project. The space includes a fully automated kitchen, living room area, hallway and bedroom. Highlights of the tour include interacting with the Touch Surface and iPad Wallmount, changing lighting moods, seeing fully automatic shading and audio possibilities.

"They loved it so much," Loxone Partner Kostantinos Dimatis from InHomeSmart comments on guests' experience, "Everybody was amazed with the switches, the LED lights and colorful lighting moods, music and video intercom. There was always a group crowding around the bedroom impressed with all its features. It was a success."

As a sales tool to expand his business, Kostantinos plans on using the space to also build relationships with other professionals. "Every day I get to see new architects, general contractors, designers. Like today, I spoke to one about my new Showroom and he will be here next week."

About the Loxone Real Smart Home: 50,000 fewer tasks, more time to enjoy life.

Founded in 2009, Loxone is redefining the smart home with its green Miniserver and true home automation. There are already more than 85,000 Loxone Smart Homes in more than 100 countries. Now expanded to the US with headquarters in the Philadelphia area, the focus remains not on gadgets and gimmicks, but on people. By relieving residents of 50,000 tasks related to lighting, heating, security and more, they get more time to enjoy life at home. "No Gimmicks. Real Smart Homes."
